7-22      *A Tucson Pastorela

Take part in a southwestern holiday celebration featuring outrageous characters and exciting adventures when this all new Tucson version hits the stage. This festive tale about the shepherds' perilous journey to witness the birth of the Baby Jesus is performed in English with beautiful Christmas carols in English and Spanish and accompanied by a live band. Family entertainment at its best! Tickets available at Antigone Books, 411 N. 4th Avenue, CFA Box Office, Borderlands Theater Office, 240 N. Stone. Information: 882-7406. Black Box Theatre, Thursday thru Saturday 7pm, Sat. 12/18-3pm & 7pm, Sundays 3pm. [$4-$15]

15-20      Ballet Arts Foundation in *The Nutcracker

Tucson's own full-length holiday classic celebrates imagination and the child in everyone. Based on the original story by E.T.A. Hoffman published in 1816, and subsequently performed in St. Petersburg in 1892, this story has thrilled children of all ages for generations. The 1999 production with Tchaikovsky's classic score promises to delight everyone with breathtaking costumes, magical toys, stunning sets, and the grand pageantry of dance. For more information or group rates, please call 623-3373. Proscenium Theatre, Friday 7pm, Saturday 2pm & 7pm, Sunday 2pm & 7pm, Tuesday 7pm, Wednesday 7pm. [$18]

January 2001

7      *Mandolin Treasures from the Golden Era

France-based mandolin virtuoso Richard Walz and pianist Mari Tomizuka collaborate in a program of seldom-heard classical treasures written for mandolin and piano. The concert features works by Beethoven, as well as rare and enchanting classical repertoire of Italian and German masters such as Rafaelo Calace and Vincent Neuling, along with other selections from the duo's most recent internationally acclaimed CD entitled Mandolin Treasures from the Golden Era. Tickets are available at the Center for the Arts Box Office, Hear's Music, 2508 N. Campbell, Antigone Books, 411 N. 4th Avenue. Call the CFA Box Office at 206-6988 to purchase tickets using a credit card. Proscenium Theatre, Sunday 3pm. [$10/$8/$5]
